

British Hold Whole Hindenburg Line From Bullecourt To Arras

Only Two Thousand Yards of Hun Trenches on Famous Line Are Still in Hands of Teutons

Another Period of Comparative Calm Has Fallen Over Entire Fighting Front Between Queant and Arras.

—British Consolidate Positions Won — Fighting Is Proceeding Fiercely Upon Italian Front.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

LONDON, May 22.—Another of the periods of comparative calm which have always followed the attainment by the British troops of their immediate objectives has fallen over their entire fighting front between Arras and Queant. Here the British are now resting, unhampered by the Germans, consolidating their gains and making ready for other plunges toward the Drocourt-Queant switch line. As they stand the British are secure in the possession of all the famous Hindenburg line, except about 2,000 yards of it directly west of Bullecourt, where another heavy battle must be fought before the enemy can dislodge and sent eastward.

No Infantry Attacks Made

Likewise along the southern end of the line held by the French on Monday passed in comparative quiet, except in Champagne, where the Germans bombarded heavily the trenches taken from them by the French in Sunday's fighting near Moronvilliers. Neither side launched an infantry attack during the day.

In the Austro-Italian theatre the Austrians are keeping up their bombardment in the Trentino sector, evidently in an attempt to attract the attention of the Italians from the offensive they are engaged in from Tolmino to the sea, with their objective Trieste, Austria's principal seaport on the Adriatic.

Both Sides Claim Success

The fighting is still furious in the latter region with both the Italian and Austrian war offices claiming successes for their respective sides. Vienna asserts that all the Italian efforts to advance between Udine and Salcano resulted in complete failure, and not a foot of territory was gained. Near Monte Santo and on the Vedie the Italians penetrated Austrian positions, but later were repulsed with heavy losses, says Vienna. On the other hand, the Italians claim the capture of a hill between Palljova and Britovo and an extension of their positions on the Vedie.

On the front in Macedonia artillery duels continue at various points and isolated infantry engagements are taking place.

Rifillery Completely Smashed The Strong Hindenburg Line

(From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press)

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, May 21, via London.—So completely did the British artillery do its work before the attack between St. Eustache and Bullecourt that 3,000 yards of the Hindenburg line are totally destroyed. This segment of the German defences was completely wiped out. Airplane photographs taken May 1 show beautiful symmetrical zig-zag; the latest pictures taken contain no traces of the trenches. The support also was badly "strafed" some 6,000 yards of it now being in British hands, leaving the Germans holding the remaining 2,000 yards. The Hindenburg line between the south end of the captured trenches and Bullecourt is dire danger as it is flanked on both sides by the British.

Really Two Attacks

The engagement was really made up of two attacks, one in the early morning, when seventy prisoners were taken, and the second late in the noon, the two meeting some 150 prisoners for the day's work in this sector. The German artillery response was very feeble, and the counter-attack during the attack was weak.

The prisoners taken came mostly from the Forty-Ninth Reserve Division, which was recruited in the region of Posen and Breslau. It came to the front from Roumania in February. Three officers are among the prisons. The men showed by word and action that they were thoroughly tired.

They had been in the line 21 days and constantly under the British fire. All of them said they had never seen anything like the artillery nor did they desire to experience it again.

Not Much Remains

Though they were concreted, all that remains of the captured portions of Hindenburg line are cement and concrete machine gun emplacements. An underground corridor parallels the support trench 35 feet below the surface.

Several isolated posts are still standing between the scene of the latest and the Queant-Drocourt line. These include the villages of Reincourt, Hencourt and other strong points in which the Germans are capable of putting up strong resistance.

RE SWEEPS ATLANTA, GA.

y of City's Finest Homes Destroyed—Still Uncon-trolled.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

ATLANTA, Ga., May 21.—Fire that swept this afternoon in an ob-negro section swept a broad through the residential section Atlanta, devastating scores of houses and destroying many of the finest homes and hundreds of houses. Although the flames were not entirely under control, they have been checked half way through the exclusive Ponce de Leon section, and fire officials believe there was little danger further spread. An estimate of the damage placed between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. So far as could be learned, the life lost was that of a woman killed from shock.

Fire was confined to the north part of the city, and the only houses burned were several houses near the point of origin.

PALESTINE JEWS TO BE MASSACRED

Turks Have Given Orders That Jews Must Evacuate Palestine.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

MONTREAL, May 21.—Col. Hon. P. E. Blondin, who has announced the discontinuance of the recruiting tour of himself and Gen. Lessard, stated that the tour, so far as it has gone, has shown that had the province been well represented in the Canadian parliament of states at the beginning of the war under the direction of a man like Gen. Lessard, "Quebec would have replied en masse."

Lieut.-Col. Blondin issued this statement in explanation of the dropping of his recruiting campaign:

"In view of the announcement made in the house by Sir Robert Borden I think that until further notice as a whole makes a final decision I cannot, in all loyalty, continue my campaign in which the representatives of all parties have taken an active part, inasmuch as my campaign was for voluntary enlistment."

TORONTO YOUTH'S RUSH TO ENLIST

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

TORONTO, May 21.—With conscription in sight, there was a rush today on the Toronto mobilization centre of applicants for enrollment in the overseas forces. Those applying numbered 355, the greatest total since January 4, 1916, when 380 offered themselves. Of these 159 were admitted. Others are yet to be examined.

BRITISH OFFICIAL STATEMENT

LONDON, May 21.—The British official statement tonight says: "Our positions in the Hindenburg line northwest of Bullecourt have been secured during the day with little interference from the enemy." The information also confirms the severity of the German losses in the recent fighting in this area.

"With the exception of a sector about 2,000 yards long, immediately west of Bullecourt, we now hold the whole of the Hindenburg line from a point one mile west of Bullecourt to Arras.

"The hostile artillery has again shown considerable activity on the north bank of the Scarpe.

"There was great aerial activity yesterday. A number of successful bombing raids were carried out, and our aeroplanes co-operated excellently with our infantry in the attacks, engaging the enemy troops in the enemy's front line trenches with machine gun fire.

"In the air fighting seven German aeroplanes were downed, of which one fell inside our lines. Eight others were driven down out of control by our anti-aircraft guns. Four of our aeroplanes are missing."

Liberal Campaign on South Side of River Opened by R.B. Douglas

Enthusiastic Meeting Crowds Strand Theatre, Where Address By Hon. Duncan Marshall, Mrs. E. L. Hill and Mr. R. B. Douglas Are Heard—Liberal Legislation In Alberta Has Been Most Progressive In Canada.

What may well be regarded as the official opening of the Liberal campaign on the south side of the river, in the interests of Candidate R. B. Douglas, was the meeting in the Strand theatre last night, where addresses from Hon. Duncan Marshall, Mrs. E. L. Hill, and Mr. Douglas were listened to and applauded to the echo by a big audience of which one-half was composed of women electors. Mr. Douglas was given a fine reception in for which the prairie farmers are now suffering when grain is to be moved. "And for all this gift of public money the government got 40 per cent of the C. N. R. stock—the commonest stock I know of, unless it be oil stock."

In the meantime, while the west could obtain no branch line assistance,

L. BOUDREAU UNANIMOUSLY RENOMINATED

Sitting Member For St. Albert Constituency Chosen By Acclamation.

(Special to the Bulletin.)

MORINVILLE, May 21.—Lucien Boudreau, the sitting member of the provincial legislature for the constituency of St. Albert, was re-nominated by acclamation at the Liberal convention here today. It was the most enthusiastic and successful convention ever held in the riding and foreshadows the easy success of the candidate at the forthcoming election. Mr. Lalavale of St. Albert was chosen chairman of the convention and I. H. Saunderson was his vice-chairman.

Women Decide Election

Mr. Douglas in a clear cut, business-like address dealt mainly with the legislation brought down by the Sifton government, the last session, and particularly the fact that while the women of the world were agitating for the franchise the Alberta government gave to them equal rights with men, it being within their power to hold any office from the highest to the lowest. He thought the women would decide the election.

In a matter of public work expenditure he said approximately $5,000,000 had been spent since the province was inaugurated, thus meeting the enormous demand for new roads and bridges caused by the rush of settlement after 1905. In all this great program not one charge could be brought against the department for a record of money, a record of economy, and a record of honest work.

Railway legislation had proved most beneficial, not less than 3,000 miles being guaranteed and of the total mileage guaranteed by the Alberta government, 74 per cent had been built and 143 miles had been constructed since the election.

Railway legislation had proved most beneficial, not less than 3,000 miles being guaranteed and of the total mileage guaranteed by the Alberta government, 74 per cent had been built and 143 miles had been constructed since the election.

Peter Reed, of Fairy Dell, proposed the name of Mr. Boudreau and E. Jennings of Husky, seconded the nomination. And spoke in favor of the Sifton government during its past term of office and dealing particularly with the loan act, the railway guarantees and the telephone system.

On motion of W. Poirier, seconded by J. O'Donnell, the following resolution was adopted:

"That this convention unanimously indorses the progressive and economic policy of the Sifton government, and particularly the legislation passed at the recent session of the legislature affecting the basic industry of the province, namely agriculture."

This convention also wishes to express their approval of the painstaking manner in which the affairs of the constituency have been managed by the late representative, Mr. Lucien Boudreau, and has every confidence in his ability to represent the people to the best advantage.

On motion of E. Leader, the following resolution was adopted:

"That this convention unanimously indorses the progressive and economic policy of the Sifton government, and particularly the legislation passed at the recent session of the legislature affecting the basic industry of the province, namely agriculture."

BIG CROWD AT MEETING IN E. EDMONTON

Liberal Candidate Fred Duncan Given Splendid Reception.

MEET PERSONALITIES WITH PERSONALITIES

Enthusiastic Crowd Listens To Answers To Charges.

The reason why there was not a larger crowd at the meeting held in the Newmarket school hall night, in the interests of Fred Duncan, Liberal candidate in the East Edmonton riding, was that it would have been necessary to enlarge the assembly hall to have admitted another person. As it was, scores of persons who wanted to hear the speaker could not get in, and will have to make up for their disappointment by being on hand bright and early tonight.

Being right in the candidate's home district, the hall was packed with his enthusiastic friends and supporters. There was only one questioner in the audience, who did not note the minimum wage limit in the factory act was large enough and wanted Mr. Duncan to promise that he would work to have it put at a higher figure.

"Shut up!" "Sit down!" shouted the crowd, thinking that it was an attempt to heckle the candidate.

"Let him speak!" cried Mr. Duncan, and then, when the question had been put, aroused a shout of applause by declaring that "when elected" he would use his influence with the government to have legislation for that purpose brought down, and when introduced, he would support it.

Mayor Henry

A. R. McLean was chairman and sat all night in the hall, presenting his wife, Mrs. McLean, and the Liberal candidate in West Edmonton, as the first speaker. The mayor received a most flattering reception.

He began by saying, in reply to the suggestion that had been made in the opposition press, that it was common for a candidate to be asked to give a speech for the sake of being a Liberal candidate for the legislature, that he had no apologies to offer. He said that he had taken the position of mayor with the intention of doing his full duty to the city, and he believed he had kept to the plighted word he had given.

He had kept to his pledge, he said, and had not allowed his position as mayor to directly or indirectly influence any vote and he should not allow it to influence any vote in the future.

Is Liberal Measure

After reviewing some of the legislation passed at the recent session of the legislature, the speaker in discussing the woman's franchise act, said that it was a Liberal measure entirely.

The Conservatives were now endeavoring to claim the credit for it, but it was remanded that year or five years ago, when a committee had asked for a pledge favoring woman's suffrage placed in the Conservative platform. It had been refused.

"I understand that the chief objector was my opponent in West Edmonton," said the candidate.

Even Lord Lansdowne, who has been charged with the wrecking of the railway development of the province under the Sifton government, Mr. Henry pointed out that since 1903 3,000 miles of railway had been authorized, 2,600 of which had been bonded. Of this 1,700 had been built, and the remaining 900 had been let to contractors for the steel, and the cost was awaiting for the steel.

He answered the opposition claims that favored contractors had been unduly favored by quoting from the Dominion government report to show that the very lines which were complained of as having been let at a loss were conveniently forgotten by the opposition.

He also referred to the opposition's claim that the bond and the interest on the bonds had been paid.

Mr. Boudreau also wished to show that the very lines which were complained of as having been let at a loss were conveniently forgotten by the opposition.

He closed with a speech in favor of the telephone system.

Mr. Redmond Speaks

Mr. Redmond was present in the hall to support Mr. Boudreau.

Little Boy Had Eczema

On Face and Hands—Local Doctors Treated Him in Vain—How Cure Was Finally Effectuated.

Trenton, Ont., May 21.—This letter will interest all mothers of young children, because it tells of the best means obtainable of overcoming the annoying and torturing skin troubles which come to so many children.

Mrs. Waldron had several doctors treating him for eczema, but all in vain. Finally she heard about Dr. Chase's Ointment and her letter tells of the wonderful results obtained by the use of this soothing, healing ointment.

Mrs. Samuel Waldron, George street, Trenton, Ont., writes: "A little boy had a rash on his face and hands which the doctors called eczema. He gave us a wash for it, and some ointment, which we used, but without benefit. I think we tried all the doctors here. Finally we tried Dr. Chase's Ointment, and gave it a good trial. We could see he was getting better. After a while it appeared to burn the skin, then this skin would peel up, finally he got rid of it entirely. During the winters of the next two years we noticed a symptom of the disease under the skin. Each time we used more Dr. Chase's Ointment, curing it both times. For the last two years he has not had any rashes, until recently, when we think that he is now entirely cured."

TRAVELLING MEN TO TAKE NO ORGANIZED ACTION IN ELECTION

A representative gathering of the Edmonton travellers belonging to the North West Commercial Travellers Association was held in the Bank of Quebec building, Jasper avenue, on Saturday evening.

C. G. Davidson, one of the local directors, presided and read a communication received from the Calgary branch of the association, in which it was stated that several of the northern commercial men of opinion that the election was deliberately being held on a Thursday—when most of the men were 'on the road' to prevent the drummers exercising their franchise.

The provincial government, knowing the view of the travellers, received the telegram and appealed to the travelling men who were greatly disappointed and would naturally vote against the present administration.

The Calgary executive requested the men travelling out of Edmonton to get together and decide whether any action should be taken individually or as a body.

After some hearty discussion, it was decided as far as Edmonton was concerned, to leave the matter to the travelling man's individual consideration.

PENSION BOARD IS UNDER FIRE IN THE HOUSE

fecting incompetency in connection with the conduct of war.

During the past four years, said the member for Edmonton, there had been too much government by commission in Canada. Government by commission under certain conditions might be a good thing, but the actions of the pension board, the evidence of the members present, indicated that government by commission in Canada has gone stale. Mr. Oliver said he proposed to give a couple of instances of unfair treatment. He was going to dare to use names and was also going to dare the government of pensions board to interfere with any one because he was doing so.

Hon. C. W. Cross

He then gave details as to the cases of John Shortley and Pte. Malloy of Edmonton, who were advanced to the rank of non-commissioned officers in England. They were sent to the front with draft and were there wounded. They were reduced to their former rank of privates and were receiving pensions as privates. Non-commissioned officers remaining in England and out of danger retained their rank and will receive full pension, while those who went to France and were wounded lost their rank and were reduced in the pension scale.

In closing Mr. Oliver declared that it was up to the government to see that the pensions board carried out the intention of parliament as expressed in the report of the special committee and the orders in council based thereon.

Defends the Board.

Richard Blain, of Peel, warmly defended the pension board. He described the pension board as allowances provided as generous and liberal. He denied that there was any attempt on the part of the board to make information relating to pensions a matter of secrecy.

Colonel J. L. Taylor, New Westminster, agreed with Mr. Oliver that there was a grievance in regard to the non-commissioned officers being compelled to return to the ranks.

He said that he took to England a veterans battalion with fine non-commissioned officers. He was proud of his men and deeply disappointed when the first message he received was that all the non-commissioned men were to revert to the ranks and be ordinary soldiers. It was a hardship on the soldiers. He said he had thought the matter to the attention of the minister of militia and he had promised to make a reform.

Parsons Out of Politics
Sir Robert Borden said that a year ago the question of pensions had been raised in the house of commons and the government had not interfered in the matter. However, a committee of members of both political parties had had the matter under consideration and legislation would be brought down this session to give effect to changes proposed.

In view of the approaching responsible government, he suggested that the debate be adjourned and might be resumed later if necessary.

Hon. George P. Graham said there was no objection to withdrawing the resolution, as Mr. Burnham himself suggested. This was agreed to.

Someone had misled them and they had packed up two different issues of bonds. They had read the famous editorial of the Calgary Herald, which declared that if Leadenheimer was not prepared to substantiate his charges he was not fit for his position. "It is up to Mr. Michener to resign," declared the mayor.

Referring to the bonded indebtedness of the province, the mayor said it was unfair to include in the total bonds of the telephone department and others which were not directly on the taxation. He said that in addition the province had $126,000,000 worth of construction in every case was far higher than the amount of cattle on farms in this province.

Benefit of Measures

Dealing with the work of the department of agriculture, the minister showed how the government measure was all the dairy areas proving especially beneficial to the industry and introduced placing Alberta in the forefront of the world's butter industry.

New Zealand butter had been practically driven from British Columbia. Ontario had been forced into third place in the national competitions and England was second of the three provinces with its milk bill.

"Mr. Michener of course, said it wouldn't work, like the opposition lawyers say of many of our advanced measures, but I can tell you that the cows purchased through this act are now branded and eating grass, and have given application enough to place $10,000 worth of cattle on farms in this province."

Fred Duncan

Candidate Duncan was next introduced and received a greeting from the made the very cordial. Mr. Duncan said that for the first time East Edmonton was going to be represented in the legislature by one of its own residents. He would be ashamed to call himself a man if he did not stand up and back up a government which had given the people such legislation as the Sifton government had, but promised that when elected he would be tied to no government's apron strings. He would pass upon all suggested legislation on its merits.

If the present government continued to do well he did not think that there would be any danger but that he would support it. (Applause.)

Mr. Duncan commented approvingly on number of the acts passed at the last session, was while he was discussing the fact that what had been episode referred to occurred. Then he proceeded to get after his opponent, James Ramsey, taking up the latter's assertion that at a recent Conservative meeting in the Mountain Park district, Edson, half the men present had been drunk with personalities, said Mr. Duncan, "but my opponent brings in a lot of hearsay and says that his authority is a minister of the gospel. I don't believe it. He has slandered the ministerial profession. If my opponent is going to bring in a lot of hearsay, there is a lot of hearsay that I can bring in, about stockyards and welfare boards. I can fight fire with fire, slander with slander, and hearay with hearay, if they want it." (Tremendous applause.)

Hon. C. W. Cross

Hon. C. W. Cross, who was the next speaker, also took a shot at that Mountain Park meeting. He said that out of the sixty who made up the Conservative convention there were twenty-four Dominion and Mr. Ramsay, forty, were Dominion government employees, and that out of the other twenty, ten were men whom he had had to prosecute and put in jail. "Mr. Ramsay says I don't enforce the liquor law of the province," said Mr. Cross, "but at that meeting he sat with those bootleggers within ten feet of him."

The speaker accused Mr. Tweedie of Calgary, whom he called the only forceful man in the opposition and its real leader, with having opposed the legislation for assuring the farmers because it did not directly benefit the Premier Morris Will Take Up With Opposition Universal Service.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., May 21.—A selective conscription law in Newfoundland, along the lines of that now in force in the Maritime States and proposed in Canada, will probably be introduced at the annual session of the legislature which opens May 29. Such action was forecast today in a statement by Premier Sir Edward Morris, who returned yesterday from England, where he had been for three months attending sessions of the Imperial war conference. Speaking with newspapermen today Sir Edward announced that he would immediately take up with the leader of the opposition the question of concerted action to secure enough men to maintain the Newfoundland regiments on the firing line until the end of the war.

CONSCRIPTION SUBJECT DISCUSSED BY TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL

Objection Taken To System of Military Tribunals In Obtaining Conscripts—Notices Sent Out For All Union Men To Attend Next Meeting When Action Will Be Taken On Conscription Proposals.

Conscription, as a factor that is likely to be very real and apparent in near future, came under fire at meeting of the Trades and Labor council last night. It was arranged that the question of the system of conscription would be the main topic and asking for members of all the trades unions to be present.

Secretary Farillo said that from press reports outlining the scheme and how it would be put into force, and which there were many reasons believed were incorrect, it appeared that the system of military tribunals was to be put into force in obtaining conscripts. He contended that the military tribunals were unjust in their judgment of the matter, that they allowed partiality and neglect, and had no conception of the idea of working men who had conscientious scruples had no wish to save himself, and as ready to go into the trenches or work at the bench, but only provided that the son of the next man was to be sent to the front, there was no incentive to "pull." It behoves them to perfect their organization and be ready—for conscription would be with them—if they would defend the man who had his scruples on conscription.

Trade Unions Deceived

J. T. Scott (Machinists) and Macmanus said that the trades unions had been deceived in the matter. The government had promised that conscription would not be brought in under consideration, yet it had done so broken its promise.

The government opened the way to attend in everything the government had done in the matter that had given opportunity for graft. Frank Scott (Machinists), one of Edmonton's real old timers, said that might not be able to do much now, as he had shouldered a double fight in Edmonton in 1885, and if such a time were going to come for conscription, there should be only one law for all. The only way is to take everybody that came along, no matter what their standing, also the government should take materials. They would want the men and the resources to carry on the war, and it was for the government to decide.

President Findley remarked that it was a question that should bring the members to the meetings. If they did not come they would have to go somewhere else.

Meeting on Wednesday.

Final arrangements were made for the meeting of workers to be held at the Labor Hall, 101st street, on Wednesday night of this week at 8 o'clock for the purpose of considering the formation of a Labor Education League. It was explained that all workers were welcomed, because the league, if formed, would be an entirely separate organization from the Trades and Labor Council. It was thought that the main thing was to be done at the present meeting, that quick action must be taken, so that if the league was organized on Wednesday the final decision of a candidate might be made at the mass meeting on Wednesday, May 30.

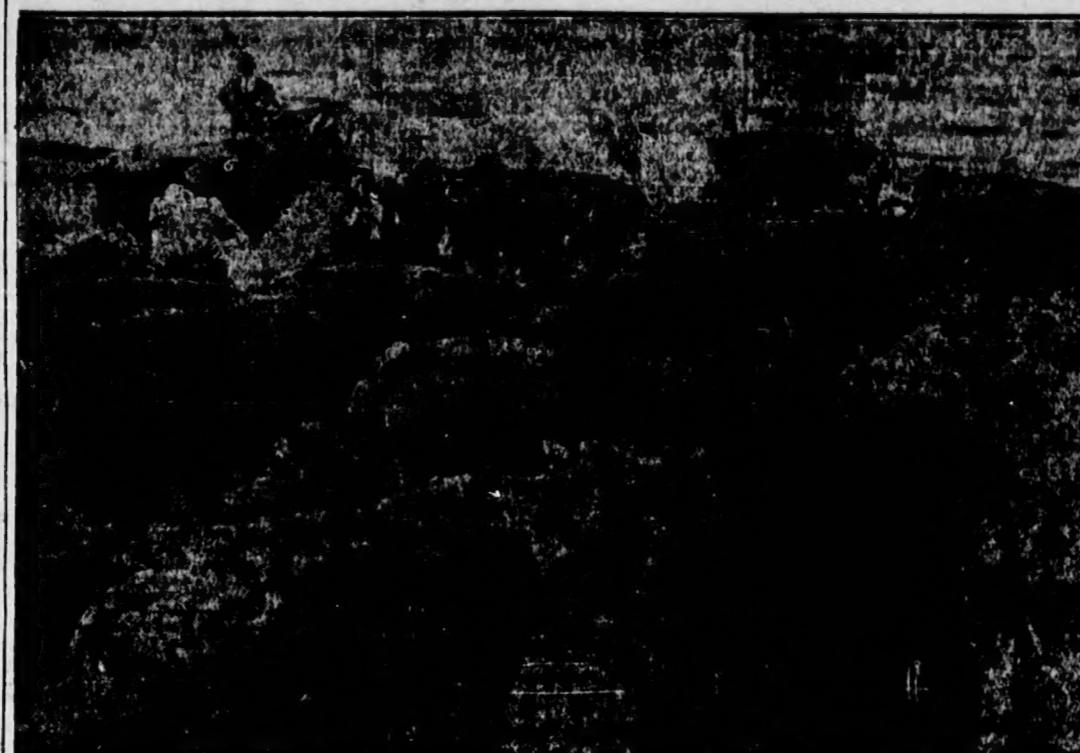

The chairman said that if they were too late for the provincial election, the delegates would be coming on shortly, when something could be done. They had to be active on the political end if they were to achieve their purpose, not in merely paying their dues and attending meetings.

Favor Equal Pensions

The council unanimously endorsed a resolution of the British Columbia Returned Soldiers' Welcome and Aid League in support of equal pensions for disabled soldiers.

Frank Scott (Machinists), one of Edmonton's real old timers, said that might not be able to do much now, as he had shouldered a double fight in Edmonton in 1885, and if such a time were going to come for conscription, there should be only one law for all. The only way is to take everybody that came

PRACTICAL RESULTS OF THE "COW BILL"

The above represents a part of the purchase of female cattle made by the second association formed under the livestock encouragement act. This association consists of members of the Italian colony at Venice. The association is composed of four Italians, one French-Canadian and one Canadian born-Canadian. With the money received them through the government guaranteed them purchased twenty-five cows, three heifers and fourteen calves.

Two members of the association did the buying, under power of attorney, for the whole number. Their names are Angelo D'Angelo and Jos. Billon. They were assisted by Mr. Norman Stockle, of the provincial livestock branch.

The brand X is the design adopted by the department of agriculture to indicate the stock purchased under the cow bill. The numerals indicate the individual by whom they were purchased.

The idea of adopting the above mark of identification was first suggested by the government and of the purchaser in these animals was suggested by Mr. P. D. Sanders, the provincial brand inspector, stationed at the Alberta stock yards, Calgary.

The record of this loan is as follows:

The application was received on April 20th, Mr. J. M. McCallum, mayor of Strathcona, was engaged as inspector to inquire into the genuineness of the representations made by the applicants, and the suitability of their equipment for taking care of animals of this kind. The inspection was made May 1st and the inspection report was received on May 9th. As there were no banking facilities at Venice, the livestock commissioner on May 11th (Arbor Day), instead of planting a tree, took the train to Venice and had the notes signed and paid off at attorney's expense.

The delegation arrived in Edmonton on Tuesday night, May 15th. On the following day, accompanied by Mr. Stockle they visited the Edmonton stockyards and the various sale stables in the city and began making their purchases. On May 19th the stock had been bought and branded, the young animals vaccinated and were ready for shipment.

The entertainment will be given by the hearty company of men at present travelling in the city, the commercial men are fully expected to rally round the banners in an endeavor to make the gathering really worth while. The entertainment committee is leaving nothing undone to assure the pleasure of all. With his usual aversion to long speeches, the drummer is arranging a short time limit of say ten minutes for the speakers so as to allow an interesting series of "west pocket" addresses by some of the ablest business men in Edmonton and from the neighboring provinces.

Knights of the Grip Hailing From All Western Centres Will Hear West Pocket Addresses From Local Business Men in Macdonald Hotel Banquet—Commercial Men Urged to Cultivate Vacant Lands to Aid Production.

During the evening Past Councillor Hurst spoke feelingly of the Council's great loss through the death of Councillor W. H. Robertson, who gave his life for the Empire on April 13th, some 1,000 men were present. By a unanimous vote, it was decided to send a letter of condolence to the late Councillor's mother in Aberdeen, Scotland.

Councillor J. B. Hawkins strongly appealed to all travelling men to do what they possibly could in the way of food production, by immediately cultivating as much vacant property as they could lay their hands on. Councillor Hawkins gave some interesting statistics showing the world was in far greater danger of a food famine than most of his audience expected.

Edmonton Thresher Co. Secures Lease Upon City Property With Option.

Signed Over Deeds To Farm and Implements While Intoxicated.

For two hours and a half on Monday afternoon Pedro Bodnar, was in the witness box at the police court under cross-examination by H. H. Robertson, in connection with the false pretenses charges against William Garthe, alias Jack Cornell, James J. Burns, Fred Schwabe and William Channel. It is charged that these men obtained, by false pretenses the farm and stock belonging to Bodnar near Lamont, and some river lots in the Lethbridge settlement. According to the police a man named John Anderson, whose whereabouts is at present unknown, was the man to whom the deeds were made out.

This was the second day of the trial. Bodnar told his story through an interpreter and claimed that he came to Edmonton on March 5th to consult a lawyer regarding family trouble. Making an appointment with the lawyer on March 6, he went to the Alberta hotel, where the witness admitted he got drunk by liquor supplied by Schwabe, he said. In an upstairs room of this hotel he met the defendant and a young man he termed as a lawyer. While in there he was drunk, and according to his story, a worthless stock certificate of the Garfield Development Co., supposedly valued at $14,000 and about $2,500 was spread over the bed and afterwards given to him for his farm stock and implements. He said he made his mark on a number of papers but was unable to identify them in the police court Monday.

A. G. MacKay appeared for Channel and H. H. Robertson is defending the others.

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like, for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through your body. He says that a few drops of a drug called frezzone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out without a scratch.

This drug is sticky but dries out quickly and is said to simply lift up the corn without inflicting any even irritating the surrounding tissue.

It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce obtained at any drug store will cost very little but is sufficient to remove any hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.

Dr. Fraser closed his address with a strong appeal for the strengthening of the Presbyterian church in Canada. The First Presbyterian church last night before a small but intensely interested audience, the church which had always proved a tower of strength to the principles of truth and righteousness in every land. He also said that it would be necessary for the Presbyterian church to revise its creed and policy or to interpret that creed in the light of the 17th century in which it was written.

NOT BACK NUMBERS

The meeting was then opened to discussion, in which a number took part, representing both views of the union question. Rev. R. G. Stewart led off by presenting Rev. Dr. Frederick Thompson, of Erskine church, who said he had no special contribution to make to the discussion because he had not had the opportunity of hearing both sides debated. However, it appeared to him that on account of the great interest in the struggle, one of the first was that the anti-unionists were the antiquated and backward number members of the church.

The appearance and deliverance of Dr. Fraser were well received, evidence that he did not take a second place in scholarship to anyone in the church. In fact he was a type of scores of the best minds in Canada who would acquiesce in all that he had said that night.

Dr. Fraser asked a number of

MISS MARTIN WILL COMPETE AGAINST EXPERT TYPIST

Interesting Competition Arranged Between Local Champion and Mr. Jarrett.

An event of more than ordinary interest to typists and stenographers generally will take place in McDougall school at 3 o'clock this afternoon when Mr. Fred Jarrett of Toronto, will give a series of demonstrations on the typewriter. Mr. Jarrett has for some years held the Canadian professional typewriting championship and is being sent on a tour that will cover no less than 26,000 miles. After demonstrating in the commercial schools throughout western Canada, Mr. Jarrett will sail for Asia, where he will appear in the cities of Tokio, Vladivostok, Hong Kong, and Manila. He will then return to San Francisco, and go to New Orleans, afterward returning to Toronto via Chicago. Mr. Jarrett's trip is under the direction of the United Typewriter company, and his expenses are being borne by the students in commercial schools just what can be accomplished on the typewriter by an ambitious student.

Apart from the interest aroused by his usual demonstration, special interest will attach itself to his appearance in McDougall school as arrangements have been made to stage a contest between Mr. Jarrett and Winnie Martin, the local specialist. Mr. Jarrett's best record was made in the world's championship contest last fall when he wrote at a net rate of 134 words per minute for one hour, while Miss Martin's official speed is 28 words per minute. The Underwood Typewriter company has offered a special gold medal to any operator writing at a net rate of 100 words per minute and Miss Martin's friends are confident that she will reach this extraordinarily high rate.

Business men or any person interested in commercial work are cordially invited to be present.

Famous Women

Never was the career of a woman more romantic and exciting than that of Charlotte Genieve Louise Augusta Andrée, Marquise de Beaumont d'Eon, who died on May 22, 1810, at 82. The most interesting part is it all is that until five years before her death she held high political office and was prominent in affairs of state—and it was thought she was a man—a political and diplomatic secretary of state to Louis XIV. In the year 1777 d'Eon was sent on an embassy to England. Here she impersonated a man and with them she discussed political affairs helped settle the destiny of nations and generally had her hand in important affairs, and none of those with whom she came in contact, big men though they were, knew that she was a woman. The whole matter aroused the wildest excitement among the leaders of politics in Europe, most of whom looked upon the affair as a great joke. Charlotte d'Eon returned to France and from that time forward till her death, which occurred five years later, lived in retirement.

DIES SUDDENLY IN CALGARY HOSPITAL

P. R. A. Belanger Passes Away Following Operation Says Despatch to Edmonton Relatives

A private despatch from Calgary to Edmonton relatives was received this morning announcing the passing away quite suddenly of P. R. A. Belanger, inspector of surveys. Mr. Belanger a few days ago underwent an operation for appendicitis and was considered out of danger when complications set in and early Monday morning his physicians declared his case hopeless and shortly afterwards the patient passed away.

The deceased was born in Gaspé, Quebec, in 1856, graduated at McGill University in 1877 and thence chose surveying as his profession. During his forty years of service he was entrusted with the execution of various important operations relative to his profession in the western provinces, all of which were carried with tact and ability.

In his demise the public service loses a trustworthy and reliable servant, the profession a counsellor, his relatives a true and considerate person, and his acquaintances a friend of sterling worth.

Alkali In Shampoo Bad For Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mineralized cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soap, or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in about a teaspoonful in all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

TUESDAY, MAY 22, 1917.

Patriotism demands that the officers be put out of business.

One thing the opposition seems to agree on is that this is not a very good time for them to have a try to beat the Sifton government.

Conscription should be first applied to those sections of the country where voluntary enlistment failed to produce a proportionate number of recruits.

Sir Richard McBride has reigned his post as agent general of British Columbia, owing to his method of taking soldiers' votes has made a bad many other people sick, but they do not seem to be at all relieved about it.

From the way the Calgary News-Telegram "welcomes" conscription, Hon. Robert Rogers thinks the time has come when Sir Bert Borden should conscript himself for service elsewhere than leader of the party Hon. Robert Borden have to try to re-elect.

Hon. Robert Rogers is in Calgary, supposedly trying to settle the coal mine strike. Following precedent we may expect an announcement from him in a day or that the strike has been settled, followed by a continuance of the up as usual and indefinitely.

It is to be hoped war and politics will not engage public attention so completely that the annual festival will be ignored. It is the most important event in the musical calendar of the province, and if it is well that the in the times be relieved by occasional entertainment, the festival offers this, and therefore deserves support. The concerts no doubt be well worth attending, as usual; and for the sake of the stimulus it gives to the love of good music the festival its patronage.

Without suggesting any opinion to responsibility for the accident on Sunday evening—the less driving of automobiles on streets of the city has been a pretty common thing late. In fact we seem to be going through one of those seasons in which ardent motorists forget that the pedestrian has any rights on the streets at all, and show a disposition to turn the thoroughfares into dowses for the gratification of personal desire for thrills. At the same time the police should take the demented drivers in hand and impress them once more with the fact that they are amenable to law.

And when that has been done there should be continued shfulness for signs of a recurrence of the malady. There is a lot and a wrong way to regulate "speed friend." The wrong is to let him tear through trees until he runs over someone, then punish him. The right is to punish him whenever he exceeds the speed limit, whether it runs over anybody or not. If he were punished for exceeding the speed limit when they do injure anyone there would be need of punishing one of for running somebody down frenzied flight. The fact is established in the minds of drivers that, not only is it a offense involving sure adequate punishment to faster than the law allows.

Will somebody kindly tell Mr. Michener what his railway policy is?

A provincial election campaign is in progress, Hon. Robert Rogers deems it advisable to come to Alberta to investigate the coal mine strike that has been going on for a year or so without arousing any notable concern on the part of the Hon. Robert.

Is it part of Mr. Michener's civil service reform scheme that Provincial Government employees should be maintained as a standing army of party workers for Dominion elections? Down in Olds a Dominion grazing lands inspector is running as Conservative candidate against Hon. Duncan Marshall, and up in Beaver River a Dominion homestead inspector is running as Conservative candidate against Hon. Wilfrid Gariépy. It is a poor rule that doesn't work both ways; and as Mr. Michener approves Dominion employees running as party candidates in provincial elections, consistency requires that he also favor squandering provincial money in maintaining a brigade of party workers for use in Dominion elections.

Electors in Edmonton and in the country to the northwest of the city might invite Opposition candidates to tell them why the Dominion Government and their Mackenzie & Mann partners are building the railway to St. Paul des Metis but are not extending the line from Sangudo to Whitecourt. The construction of this road is badly needed by hundreds of settlers between the Pembina and Athabasca rivers and beyond the Athabasca, and would immediately facilitate and stimulate the trade of Edmonton business houses in that now sadly isolated district. As in the case of the line to St. Paul, the Dominion Government is in partnership with Mackenzie & Mann in this enterprise. If the Dominion Ministers are not actually holding up construction in the supposed interest of their friends in provincial politics they are at least doing nothing to get the road built. Why is that?

The Sifton Government is criticized in some quarters for not disfranchising all residents of the province who were born in enemy countries. Residents of this class who have not been naturalized, of course, have no vote. Those who have the franchise have it because they were naturalized under Dominion law and by Dominion judges. They are as fully Canadian citizens as though born in Canada of British parentage. Those of them who obey the laws of the land and do not commit acts of disloyalty fulfil all the conditions demanded of any Canadian citizen. Any who do commit such acts, or give cause for suspecting their intentions, are liable for internment by the Dominion authorities, or for punishment by the ordinary processes of law. If the citizenship of this or any other class were to be suspended it would have to be done by the Dominion Parliament, not by the Provincial Legislature.

In the long run people get no better government than they show appreciation of. If one Government is not given credit at the polls for what it has done to promote the public interests, or to carry public opinion into effect, it is useless to expect succeeding Governments to exert themselves in those directions. The public never refuse one set of Ministers credit that they have fairly earned without paying the penalty in the indifference of succeeding ministers. Human nature being what it is, why should one group of men labor to promote the interests, or meet the wishes of people who refused their predecessors the recognition that was fairly due them? The real issue of the present election is whether the public choose to express approval of the progressive administration and legislation for which the Sifton Government is responsible. If they do not do so it will be idle to expect a progressive policy on the part of the succeeding government.

The Sifton Government did not put the Liquor Act on the statute book as a measure of Government policy. None the less, the Government is responsible, and is held responsible, for the fact that prohibition exists in Alberta today to the extent to which it does exist. The petition for a plebiscite on the Liquor Act was received and treated in a fair and unequivocal way. The plebiscite was granted without shilly-shallying of any sort, and was carried out in a way with which no fault has been found by the petitioners. That was done in face of fierce and resolute opposition backed by money and influence. It must be clearly understood that the Government will have to sustain in this election the hostility aroused by its refusal to reject the petition for a plebiscite, to amend the Liquor Act in accord with the wishes of its opponents, or to compensate the liquor dealers for the cancellation of their privileges. Having taken that course and incurred that enmity, it is both fair and in the interests of the prohibition cause that the Government should get the credit due from those who asked and approved the course.

ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to give the best information to readers of The Bulletin to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that is trifling or irrelevant to the question.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the questioner. This information is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

To the Bulletin: Kindly inform me through your questions and answer column the mileage of Canadian railroads in the United States.

A. L. Stettler.

The mileage of the Canadian railroads in the United States totals 7,041, made up as follows: C.P.R., 4,948; Grand Trunk, 1,868; Canadian Northern, 226.

To the Bulletin: Will you please give me the name of the governor-general of Canada and when he was appointed?

L. H. Edson.

The Duke of Devonshire was appointed governor-general of Canada on August 9, 1916, and assumed office on November 12, 1916.

To the Bulletin: Is the Church of England "state aided" in England? Does any proportion of taxes on property in England go toward the maintenance of the Church of England?

C. K. L. Lloydminster.

The Church of England receives no financial aid from the government in England.

To the Bulletin: Can you advise me where the Near Brussels Rug is sold here in Canada?

H. K. City.

The near Brussels rug is a tapestry rug, printed (not woven) in imitation of the Brussels. It may be obtained from any of the larger furniture dealers.

"Near Brussels Rug," so far as we can learn, is not used as a trade name for a special make of rugs, but is commonly used to refer to the tapestry rugs.

He Won

An Irishman, passing a shop where a notice was displayed saying that everything was sold by the yard, thought he would play a joke on the shopman, so he entered the shop and asked for a yard of milk. The shopman, who was leaning back, abashed, dipped his fingers in a bottle of milk and drew a line yard long on the counter. Pat, not wishing to be caught in his own trap, asked the price.

"Sixpence," said the shopman.

"All right, sorry," said Pat. "Roll it up."

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Sir—The high cost of living is forcing the people of Canada to make "economy" their watchword, and now we are also hearing more and more of the necessity of conserving our food resources. As the war goes on it remains to realize that the world's food supply is becoming scarce and that before the crop of another year is harvested we may feel something of what a world famine might mean. Under the existing circumstances it certainly seems to be a patriotic duty on the part of our government to allow the wasting of foodstuffs by the brewers and distillers. In days when living had not become so luxurious as it has been during the last decade, our mothers taught us the old maxim, "An Englishman makes a woeful want, and surely in this like condition a nation should take heed as well as the individual. There is, however, another luxury which might well be dispensed with, or at least restricted, without injury to the health of the people and that is ice-cream. It is needless to say that the high cost of dairy products, we housekeepers know only too well, and there seems little prospect of prices dropping much during the summer months. Those of us who happen to have been brought up on a farm also know that when farm labor becomes scarce the dairy is the first department of farm industry which is restricted. The reason is not far to find. Dairying is a constant and exacting job and very few hired men are either willing or capable of being satisfied with it. For these reasons I think we will very soon find that the price of ice-cream and butter will have been raised to a point where it is no longer a luxury but a necessity.

FROM FARM TO CABARET PROVES TO BE WINNER

(By Bulletin Dramatic Critic)
There is at least one exceptionally bright spot in Pantages' bill this week and that is Green, McHenry and Deane in their act "From Farm to Cabaret." It is an act of the musical variety, and aside from the fact that the trio are equipped with exceptionally good voices, their selection of songs is at least a diversion from the usual Dixie land order that is handed out and hammered into the Pantages' patrons so faithfully. Every number, from the "Barn Back Ball" to the "Auld Lang Syne" burlesque of "Los Miserables" did not forgetting that very old but popular song "The Old Home on the Farm," yesterday afternoon made the audience, who had sat through a very average bill, perk up and "get into the game."

This interest was kept up until the

There was plenty of vim, at least enough to make the spectators keep their seats until it was finished, and that's no mean compliment from a Monday afternoon audience.

W. M. Morris, the bicycle clown, has certainly got the tickle, and is down to the point of making use of every minute, and good use of it, too. After he has fooled around a bicycle in a very foolish manner for the first half of his time, he proceeds to put over some real tricks.

Stuart, the male Patti, offers a selection of songs in a falsetto voice that is better of his kind than a similar one that was in Edmonton a short time ago. His costumes and make-up are a glitter with spangles and adorned with enough ornaments to equip a fifteen-cent store, and his dancing well, if graceful.

"Woman Proposes" at least has a original topic. Its comicality largely ubility men tell of current attractions on the screen in Local Picture Houses

ARTISTIC FEATURE FILM AT MONARCH

Norma Talmadge's first Selznick picture to be shown here, "The Law of Compensation," is a tremendous drama of modern American life, striking right at the heart of the restless, nervous core of social conditions. The story, written especially for Miss Talmadge by William F. Davis, deals with problems of money and circumstances that are brought out most forcibly, day after day, in newspaper stories and divorce records. The story is that of a woman who fails to meet the demands made by the strenuous business world upon her husbands, and the failure of the husbands at the same time to meet the demands of their wives upon them. "The Law of Compensation" is the attraction at the Monarch theatre all this week. It was presented before large and enthusiastic audiences yesterday.

In "Panthere," Miss Talmadge's first Selznick which was given a private showing here recently, this brilliant young actress struck an emotionally intense note, and in her new picture she has ample opportunity to give expression to even greater emotion, a role which will bring her into still closer touch with audiences on this side of the Atlantic, since it is that of a woman such as everyone knows, in circumstances which are essentially those of American life.

The wife of Allen Hayes, Miss Talmadge appears as a young woman who feels that her life is dull and uninteresting. Seeking outside interests, she is attracted by the possibilities of a career as a singer. She is successful, but meets a scrupulous young man who pretends to be able to exert valuable influence in her behalf. The young woman's father, John Graham, gets a hint of the situation through a banker, and attempts to get a large sum of money for the swindler on a flimsy excuse. He hurries to visit her, and in the story of the life of her mother, who with her mother were very vague. John Graham had discovered that his wife, when their child was very young, had become infatuated with his young business partner. He told her to go to the man she loved, and persuaded her to get a divorce. The first month of happiness soon passed, and tragedy followed. The daughter heard this story and realized that a dangerous sound upon which she was treading had come back in time to save herself from her mother's fate.

The photography is one of the outstanding features of this remarkable picture. The last two Selznicks have been especially notable in this respect.

Fisher Branch, Man., May 21st.—(Special) I suffered from kidney trouble from the time I was twelve years old. Now I am in the best of health and owe it to Dodd's Kidney Pill.

The speaker for Mr. Arthur Rousseau, well known and highly respected here. Today at twenty-two years of age he is in robust health. No one would think that for ten years he had been a victim of kidney disease. But such is the case.

I suffered from headaches and明晰了 his state. I had a very sore back, my appetite was pitiful and I was troubled with sleeplessness. I was always tired and nervous. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals while heart flutterings made me uneasy.

HOSPITAL BOARD WILL INCREASE SALARIES OF STAFF MEMBERS

Applications Are Acted Upon Favorably—Appreciate H. C. L. Increase—Considerable Routine Business Is Transacted At Regular Meeting.

The hospital board yesterday afternoon decided to give increases of salary to some of the staff employed by the board who are not boarded at the Royal Alexandra Hospital. Applications were made on the ground of the increased cost of living.

Secretary Leonard, who used to have $150, but was reduced to $135, was reinstated to the $150 basis. The cookkeeper, Mr. Davis, was increased from $80 to $100 per month. The temporary stenographer, Mrs. Edmonson, was appointed to a permanent post at $70 per month. Newton Walker, the collector, was increased from $40 per month and 5 per cent on collections to $50 and 6 per cent on collections. His collections average $100 to $120 per month. J. Greeves, fireman, was put in charge of the hospital carpenter, G. Brodie, originally received $100 per month and was cut to $80 per month. Pauline Edwards, hospital maid, now earning $20 per month and board, were increased to $25.

The board gave the secretary permission to purchase a new Ford car as the agents have agreed to take the old one belonging to the hospital in part, and will pay him $250 on account of a new car. The car has been in the possession of the board for about a year and has cost $263 in repairs. It was originally purchased second hand from the city for $200.

No Estimate Received

H. H. Cooper, chairman of the special committee, said he intended to deal with the carrying out of the necessary improvements to the isolation hospital, alluded to in the fact that nothing in the way of plans or an estimate of cost had yet been received from the building inspector. He asked that a future and less expensive mode be found to build the hospital than the telephone. Presently they might want responsibility, and unless they had a record nothing could be done.

The board gave orders that the work of screening the verandas at the Royal Alexandra Hospital should be carried out on one side of the building only, the superintendent to point out which side will be most useful.

The cost will be either $355 or $42 according to the side selected, the being the tender given by Messrs. Grey and McLennan.

A letter from the Edmonton Agricultural Society advised that the following committee had been appointed to act with the board: Dr. Wilson, Dr. MacKey, Dr. P. A. McDonald, Dr. T. H. Whitehead, Dr. Campbell, Dr. Shearer and Dr. F. C. McPherson.

Letter of Thanks

A letter of thanks goes from the board to Archibald Legge for a gift of $200 to the hospital, also for $6 given in January last.

Secretary Leonard stated that he received a letter from the archbishop with the gift, asking that acknowledgment should be made through

The Edmonton Agricultural Society.

The visiting committee, G. J. F. Kirkpatrick and Ald. Bellamy, expressed their approval of the first class condition in which the facilities of the isolation hospital. Ald. Bellamy said that he was pleased to see even the walls so well decorated. Dr. Kirkpatrick said that every visitor made to the hospital left him better pleased than the last.

Mr. Fitzweir has taken every detail into careful consideration and, with the purpose in mind of giving the photoplay fans in the city the very best, in affording them the opportunity of seeing one of the foremost of the screen favorites and has seen in such notable productions as "The Vampire," "The Scarlet Woman," "The Heart of a Perfect Woman," "The Unknown," "The Scarlet Eve," and "The Orchid Lady," "Black Butterfly," his latest production, will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Friday for the first time. Robert and Louis Lorris are appearing in the beautiful Bluebird photoplay, "The Gift Girl." These two Bluebird stars are extremely popular in the city and this production which was shown on Monday for the first time, is one of the best of the Bluebirds.

MOTHS OF FRANCE POWERFUL PLAY

This attraction, filmed in France with the French army, in the leading role will be the feature attraction at the Empress theatre all next week, when special music especially arranged for augmented orchestra will accompany the picture. "Mothers of France" was conceived and written by Jean Richépin, famous member of the French academy, and was directed by Louis Merle, English forester, director of dramatic art, critic and author. The general government is part owner of the production and it is being presented in Canada by Liberty Pictures.

Canada Nation, if she were alive today, would have travelled many miles to take part in a scene in the new Triangle-Film's picture, "The House Built upon Sand," in which Lillian Gish is starred, and would have done so with great enthusiasm with her role that she would have donated her salary to the cause of prohibition. "The House Built upon Sand," is being shown at Empress theatre today for the last time.

Little Stories of Big Men

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE

Everyone who has ever received a bill following that adventurous case of Sir John Hammarskjold, who is not?—will join today in celebrating the birthday of the creator of famous gentleman, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who is today fifty-eight years old. Sir Arthur nowadays is writing detective thrillers but stills of a very different kind, for he is devoted to telling facts out the way, and thus helping England. It is not generally known that Arthur is a Scotchman. He was born in Edinburgh on May 22, 1859, his father, Charles Doyle, was an artist of considerable fame, and his grandfather, John Doyle, was the famous "Bill" the caricaturist whose works are displayed in the British Museum. In fact, the entire male line of the Doyle family has been distinguished in arts and letters, for Uncle Henry Doyle, was one of the best noted contributors of illustrations to Punch, while another Uncle, Harry Edward Doyle, was for many years editor of the National Art Gallery of Ireland. It is curious to note that Sir Arthur received a great part of his education in Germany, where he studied medicine. As a youth he had contributed articles to Chamber's Journal. He also made a trip to the Argentine, and while there, wrote a book. He received his M.D. degree in the University of Edinburgh and spent four sad and miserable months on a ship, as surgeon, sailing from London to the West Coast of Africa. Then he settled down to practice at Southsea and dispensed medicine for eight years, the meantime he wrote many detective stories that gained great popularity among the youth of England and America and gradually won for him millions of adult readers. Then the "Study in Scarlet," in which Sherlock Holmes was introduced and his fame and fortune was established. After that, as a man of fine sympathies and before that absorbed his entire interest, was an earnest worker in many reform movements. He is considered radical in political as well as his social views yet is tolerant and liberal. He died knighted about fifteen years ago. He has always taken prominent part in the fight for Home Rule and supported the cause with money, voice and pen.

Adventures of Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

Uncle Wiggily and the Cannon

Copyright, 1917, by McClure News-paper Syndicate.

Uncle Wiggily," called Sammie Littletail, the rabbit boy, to Mr. Longear, the big rabbit gentleman, one day. "Uncle Wiggily, don't you think we ought to have a cannon?"

"A cannon?" cried Uncle Wiggily, resting the soft end of his bean-shooting popgun on the edge of his tall sill. "Yes! You may have a big gun that shoots cannon balls?"

"Yes," answered Sammie. "I do. Since you have started to be a soldier, and have this guard tent near your hollow stump bungalow to keep away the bad, biting mosquito army, you ought to have a cannon in front, as soldiers do at forts."

"But I have my bean-shooting popgun," said the bunny rabbit; "and animal boys have yours, so I don't see why we need a cannon."

"They have them in all mosquito wars," Sammie said.

"I know where to get one," spoke the bunny.

"Oh, we boys will make one," answered the rabbit chap. "I'll get Jimmie Wibblewobble, the duck; Peetie Bow-Wow, the puppy dog boys, and the Bushytail squirrel boys, and we'll make a cannon that shoots with a bang!"

"All right," replied the bunny rabbit, turning away so his ears would hide his smile. "You may try."

Away rushed Sammie, as happy as a clam when it jumps out of the chowder to chase an oyster cracked around the shell.

"We're going to have a cannon!" Sammie cried, and all the animal boys shouted "Hurrah!" like a little girl. I know, who says that when she has finished dancing the foxtrot without step on the toes of Grandma Goosey Gander?

Uncle Wiggily, a little later, was sitting in his soldier tent, about which I have told you, and as he ate his lunch of carrot sandwiches with lettuce ice cream sprinkled through the middle, he smiled. Then he laughed—Ha! Ha!

Nurse Jane, the wavy Wuzzy, his cook, rapidly housekeeper, who hangs up clothes in the bungalow yard heard the bunny.

"What are you laughing at, Uncle Wiggily?" said Nurse Jane. "Did one of the enemy mosquitoes tickle you under the chin?"

"Well, don't be too sure about it," uncle as he stood up and saluted his housekeeper in the soldier fashion. "I was just laughing at the thought of Sammie Littletail and his little animal boy friends making a cannon. It will be like Johnnie Bushytail's starch-box drum. I suppose they will use it for drum, as I did in my kindergarten class in the stump school, where the lady mouse teacher makes baskets out of chalk dust. But it will be fun for them though their cannon can no more keen away the mosquitoes than can my tall sil."

"Well, don't be too sure about it," said Nurse Jane, but Uncle Wiggily only laughed again, and ate the lolly-pop pudding ice cream, which the mosquito lady brought out to him.

When Sammie Littletail told the other animal chaps that Uncle Wiggily would let them make a cannon, they would run in front of his war tent to keep away the mosquitoes, all the rabbits, squirrels, mice, guinea pigs, rats and other friends began to work. They spent all of one afternoon when school was out and what they made—

"Well, you shall hear about that in a little while,"

"I think it was coming on toward night in Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily, brave soldier gentleman, and his animal boys, all the rabbits, squirrels, ducks, guinea pigs, rats and other friends began to work. They spent all of one afternoon when school was out and what they made—
